

Rommel

(as of 4 Oct., 2017)

p.90 Points System

Second para, third sentence. The reference to “three elements” is a typo. The mid-war US army list on page 94 is correct; the army has a minimum of two elements.

p.94 US Light Tank Battalion

The stats for this battalion were accidentally omitted. They are:

Light Tank Battalion

3 Stuart

p.99 Late War British Tank Destroyer Battalion

This battalion should have two Achilles units, not three. The cost in APs (7) remains correct.

p.101 French Cavalry Battalion

There should be no red “3” limit on this battalion.

p.104-105 German Mid- and Late-War Army Lists

The note that reads “...no more than four units in each element may be armor units” should read: “no more than four battalions may comprise armor units.” In other words, you can’t have more than four battalions in an element that are tanks, tank destroyers, or anything else with the armor symbol.
